Hair Preserving

The lassitude, languor and debility peculiar to this season are wholly overcome by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla It purifies vitalizes and enriches the blood, invigorates the nervous system and imparts new life and energy to all the functions of the body

"I cheerfully recommend Hood's Sarsaparilla for biliousness and all impurities of the blood Last spring I was much benefited by it"—Mrs J. W Clement, Franklin, N. H.

A lady tells us "the first bottle has done my daughter a great deal of good, her food does not distress her now, nor does she suffer from that extreme tired feeling which she did before taking Hood's Sarsaparilla A second bottle effected a cure

"The beneficial effects from Hood's Sarsaparilla have been more speedy than from any other preparation"—E G. Woodman, Wilton, N H

We ask special attention to the fact that testimonials published by us are from influential persons who are now living and enjoying the health which the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla has given them

Capt J P Thompson, of Lowell, Registrar of Deeds for Middlesex County, Northern District, says "I have never found anything that hit my wants as Hood's Sarsaparilla, it purifies my blood, sharpens my appetite and makes me over"

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla in my family for scrofulous humor with wonderful success"—C C Pickering (Coburn Shuttle Co) Lowell Mass

PURIFY YOUR BLOOD

At no other season is the system so susceptible to the beneficial effects of medicine, hence this is the time to take Hood's Sarsaparilla to purify your blood and fortify your system against the debilitating effects of Spring weather It sharpens the appetite, tones the stomach, invigorates the aged and imparts new life and energy to all "My breakfast tasted good this morning for the first time in several months, have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla only three days"

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Has met success at home never accorded to any other proprietary medicine It has successfully combated the strongest competitor and, by its superior merit, to day commands the largest sale and greatest confidence wherever it has been introduced An Alderman says "Hood's is the strongest Sarsaparilla I ever saw"

"I believe Hood's Sarsaparilla to be the best blood purifier in the market"—I. J Clement of the firm of J W & J J Clement, Warner, N H

OUR POLICY

It is not now, nor has it ever been the policy of the proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla to mislead the public in any way regarding the curative power of Hood's Sarsaparilla In advertising we shall state facts honestly candidly and allow the people to judge the claims Hood's Sarsaparilla has upon their confidence and patronage Thousands have found good health and relief from terrible suffering, through the use of Hood's Sarsaparilla, when every other means failed

HOOD'S SARSAPARILLA

Combines in a proportion peculiar to itself, the active medicinal properties of the most approved alterative tonic and blood purifying remedies of the vegetable kingdom It will positively cure when in the power of medicine, dyspepsia, headache biliousness, spring debility, kidney complaints scrofula salt rheum and all diseases arising from an impure state or low condition of the blood It is nature's great health restorer, and is not equaled by any other medicine Try it

The Lewiston Journal says "A formal application for the letter carrier system in Lewiston, will be forwarded to Washington by Postmaster Little, as soon as the receipts of our post office for the fiscal year ending June 30 are known"

A Durham cow belonging to Mr G I Cook of Casco, gave birth last week to a calf weighing 125 pounds

Wednesday night, Mrs Philbrook, who resides on India street Portland was assaulted by a man, who knocked her down injuring her seriously From her description, Officer Burnham arrested a merchant of this city, and took him before the woman but he wasn't the man, although he resembled the assailant somewhat in personal appearance

Mr Irish, at Cobb's Bridge, had three cows maimed by the cars running over them, last week so he had to kill them

Mr Granville Edwards, of Gray, has invented a car stove If completely capsized, fifteen streams of water play upon the fire It would seem that it must supersede the car heaters now in use by railroads Mr E is quite an inventor, having secured some fifteen or more patents already.

According to the revenue statement of the Grand Trunk Railroad of Canada for the month of April, the gross receipts amounted to £183,222 as compared with £190 888 in the corresponding month of 1881, being a decrease of £7 066 The working expenses were £130 464, gainst $125 941, an increase of £4,523, leaving the net profit at £52 758, against $64 347 or a decrease of £11 589 From the first of January to the 30th of April the net profit was £159 168 against £201 610 showing a decrease of £42 442

The Press says "Dr Cecil Cook as he called himself, is a young man about 25 years of age, stout and light complexioned with moustache of English birth who a fortnight ago, came to Portland to practice his profession, as he said He claimed to be a regularly educated physician a member of the Royal College of Surgeons London an assistant surgeon in the British army and took rooms at a well known boarding house on Chestnut street He did not appear to have much money but was always expecting a remittance from England He also claimed to be an electrician, and said he was in the employ of the Grand Trunk railroad to put in electric lights. Wednesday night Dr Cook disappeared some six or eight persons mourn his loss Mr Mathias the tailor sold him a suit of clothes worth $40 for which Cook gave him a check on the Merchant's National Bank The check proved worthless of course Cook having no account there Mr Schlotterbeck sold him an electric battery worth $12 taking a check for the same, he is that amount out Cook's landlady is out for a week's board and money loaned One doctor is out about $100 for surgical instruments which he loaned Cook

An excursion has been arranged by Chandler's Band from Portland to Gardiner, and from that city down the Kennebec in a steamer to Bath, the sweet music of the band adding a charm to the beautiful scenery and dreamy quiet of the sail

George Lightbody, a freight conductor on the Eastern railroad, and William Minue and Joseph H Gray, brakeman on the road, were arrested in Boston, Tuesday, for the larceny of goods, valued at $16, from a freight train on the 9th inst.

The Boston Herald thus speaks of the windfall to Moses A Safford, of Kittery, at present Register of Probate for York county, at one time a clerk on the navy yard, and who made a cruise to the Mediterranean as yeoman in a naval vessel "By the death of a resident of Genoa, Italy, a lawyer of Kittery, Me., has had left him property worth 75,000 f. First, because he promptly gave a German by the name of Leopold, a light from his cigar, second, because he was enabled to give him, at an opportune time, some practical information respecting a law suit, on a contract about dredging machines, in which the German was involved, and helped him out, and generally, because he was a pretty good fellow and the German liked him"

AGRICULTURAL ITEMS.

The first carload of new Texas oats arrived at New Orleans last week. The grains were well filled, showing the crop to be fully matured.

Burying stone is the best way to dispose of them when not needed for other purposes. If small they may be used in making under-drains.

Look to the orchards about these days. As a twig starts it is an easy matter to cut it out with a small knife, or even to rub it off with thumb and finger. These methods are better as well as much cheaper than later pruning with the saw

Most farmers, when beginning to underdrain, are apt to make the ditch way too large Nothing is more common than to see five or six cubic inches left for water way when a three inch tile would be ample Rats and other vermin get into such drains especially of stone and soon fill them with dirt With a small tile drain more care is needed in securing a uniform fall but the drain when made will be more permanent

FARM HINTS Do not fail to have a good garden No farmer who is worthy the name should be without this home comfort Good fruit and vegetables are a blessing for which the farmer should be thankful and will which he should liberally supply his family

In setting out fruit trees or grow ing vegetables remember that a poor and worthless variety requires the same amount of labor in planting and cultivating it and takes up the same space in the orchard or garden as the best therefore select and plant only the best

The striped bug will surely put in an appearance at the proper time and the young melon and cucumber vines will suffer from its attack Provide yourselves with a little ground plaster and give the pest a liberal dusting or, rather dust the vines and the bugs will keep off the bugs

Keep up with your farm work if possible it is better to drive the work than to let the work drive you

If your wife and daughters are fond of flowers see that they have a suitable place to cultivate their love for the beautiful Flowers have a refreshing influence and make the farmer's home more pleasant

GARDEN PLANTS Have a row of geraniums including two or three dear ones one or two pinks ones and a few almonds and at least three rose geraniums You will want their leaves for use with other flowers When you cut geranium for use in the parlor don't mix the scarlets with the pinks or salmons they don't look well each color by itself You can use mignonette with them if you have them but they are much more sat factory alone than with most other flowers A few or two of phlox is desirable Phlox loves a rich soil and continual work It is fine for bouquets but for vase The white variety will combine well with the scarlet or pink geraniums It will give you excellent satisfaction Then you want some pansies The young plants will not give you many flowers before fall but then they will do better than they would through the hot days of summer and for bouquets in flat dishes nothing is better Put a row of rose geranium leaves about a glass dish and fill it with sand Wet the sand and insert the stems of the pansies in it They will remain fresh for days in this way Of course in such a garden there can be no artistic arrangement of plants None should be crowded The plan is to supply bloom for the parlor If this is done the aim of the writer is accomplished such a garden however affords a great deal of pleasure to itself and many a traveler pleasure to the real practical

For Governor:

FREDERICK ROBIE

OF GORHAM.

FOR REPRESENTATIVES TO CONGRESS

THOMAS B. REED, of Portland.
NELSON DINGLEY, Jr., of Lewiston.
CHARLES A BOUTELLE, of Bangor.
SETH L. MILLIKEN, of Belfast.

OUR CONVENTION AND ITS NOMINEES

[Biddeford Union and Journal.]

The Republican State Convention of 1882 has met and adjourned It was the largest gathering ever held within the borders of our State to deliberate upon political matters It was composed of 1427 earnest whole souled working Republicans men who have the good of the party at heart and men who will see to it that the nominees they selected on Tuesday last as their standard bearers will be overwhelmingly elected in September next

It was a Convention in which the utmost good feeling prevailed and the manner in which Col Robie's nomination was made unanimous dispelled any and all fears one might have had as to any opposition that might be the result of a close and spirited contest like the one through which the Convention had just passed I very delegate present knew that both the prominent gentlemen before the Convention for its highest honor were men of high character and integrity well fitted in every way to discharge the duties of any official position they might be called to fill and when the majority named our distinguished nominee as the choice of the Convention, no delegate who had supported Thomas was wanting to make that nomination unanimous to the letter

The Convention did its work wisely and well It would be hard work to strengthen the ticket in a single aspect The gentlemen put in nomination by the Convention will add to the honor of our State They were the cool and deliberate choice of the thinking men of the party and the earnest manner in which the Convention acted demonstrated clearly that they were nominated to be elected and that the Convention was no man's property, but that the Republican party of the State of Maine, through its delegates assembled was opening up a new era in the politics of our State an era of the best men for official position and the best government for the people of our Commonwealth Our candidates need no introduction to the voters of Maine, they are straightforward, upright honest men Men who have been honored in the past by our people, who will again delight to honor and be honored by them

Col Frederick Robie, of Gorham is about fifty five years of age, and is a man of the people one who has long been known as a champion of the people's rights a man who has done and will continue to do more for the agricultural interests for our State than any one of her citizens Col Robie is Grand Master of the Maine Grange Association has been in the Maine Senate, and House of Representatives having been Speaker of the body two years, and is at present a member of the Governor's Council In all these different positions Col Robie has displayed signal ability and the farmers of Maine who will delight to elect him the coming fall, in their farmer governor will have a man to whom they can safely intrust their interests

Hon I B Reed since his very advent in Congress has not only represented the First District of Maine ably but is to day a man of National reputation, pre-eminently the leader of the National House of Representatives a man who from the search ing examination which he gave the New York forsook its to his last great fight against Democratic filibustering has been known to the whole country as a true blue sterling Republican

Hon Nelson Dingley, now serving his first term in Congress was deservedly renominated The work our ex Governor has been doing in Congress during the past winter in aid of the ship building interests of our state, and in behalf of an honest currency has strengthened the already large hold he has upon the people of our State and they know full well there is not a man within our borders who can represent them better than he

Hon Charles A Boutelle, of Bangor, is the brilliant editor of THE BANGOR WHIG and is about 45 years of age He is a man who dares to speak what he thinks, and a man who will make more reputation in a single term in Congress than many would in a whole term of service Mr Boutelle deserved well of the Convention for the gallant fight he made in the Fourth District in 1880

Hon Seth L Milliken of Belfast, is one of Maine's most brilliant and ready speakers and with save perhaps the single exception of our distinguished Senator, Hon Wm P Frye, is the most sought after of our Maine orators Mr Milliken is a man who will at once take front rank in the halls of Congress and the people of the Fifth District, so long and ably represented by Senator Hale will find they have chosen a worthy successor in Mr. Hale's place

It but remains for the voters of this County to put their shoulders to the wheel to help make the victory we shall surely win in September complete and overwhelming, a victory which will turn fusion into confusion and anchor our grand old State to Republican principles for years to come

All the Maine Republican papers heartily commend the party's State Convention and its work Its enthusiasm, unanimity and the large number of delegates in attendance gave an auspicious opening to the campaign The interest felt in the canvass in all parts of the State was shown by the attendance of sixty delegates from Aroostook, the most northern county in the State They were compelled to make a journey of four days in order to be at the Convention —N Y Tribune

A veteran officer at the review of the West Point cadets the other day remarked that neither Gen. Sherman nor Gen. Howard were attired in regulation garb. To the eye of the layman their cocked hats, ostrich plumes, gold cords, epaulets and sashes left nothing to be desired. But the veteran, more in sorrow than in anger, pointed out that neither wore spurs, that Gen. Sherman was without a sword, and that Gen. Howard's hat was rear side before. Nevertheless the review passed off successfully and the heavens did not fall.

WHAT ON EARTH WAS IT PRINTED FOR?

We are somewhat amused to find our local Fusion contemporary declaring that "Neither the Commercial, nor the Boston "Herald, nor any other of the papers which "have spoken favorably of the work done "by Congressman Ladd * * so far as "we know, have claimed in any way, shape, "or manner that his published speech had "any effect, powerful or otherwise, upon "the passage of the bill"

Then what on earth was it printed for and sent out in full in the Commercial and other organs long after the bill was passed?

As a matter of fact Dr. Ladd's "great Geneva Award speech" never was heard of and never saw the light until after the bill had been passed. If it was printed then and sent around through this State with any other intention than that of causing people to suppose it had been delivered and had helped to pass the bill, we should like to know what the object was

There was no particular utility in having Dr Ladd argue to his constituents in favor of a bill that had already passed without his vote, and, during his absence, and the printing and circulation of that undelivered speech can be regarded in no other light than a very small trick to deceive the public and claim credit that had never been earned

UNCLE SOLON MAKING IT WARM FOR "DEAR SAM."

Uncle Solon Chase is making it rather warm for the "Dear Sam" business. E H Goodwin writes "Them Steers" as follows addressing his letter to Dear Sam —

"That part of Governor Plaisted's letter which told about those humble folks that live on the cross roads was soul stirring in the extreme I live on one of those cross roads, so I have been watching to see how well your convention looked after my interests Dear Sam, I am, to say the least, kind of disappointed in that convention I expressed my disappointment that your convention did not nominate Congressmen to a gentleman who said he was a Greenbacker but used to be a Democrat, and he looked very wise and said

"You can catch more flies with molasses than you can with vinegar" I asked him if he meant to compare the Greenback party to a fly trap? I told him, in my mind, the fly trap business would not work this year"

"The next time you see the Governor, you had better tell him that those "cross road" fellows won't tumble to his racket this fall, that is, not all of them We shant all tumble to the Congressional racket either I tumbled to it last election, because I was at the Alfred convention and heard Governor Plaisted tell us to, and I thought then he must be right Since then I—like the boy's puppies—have got my eyes open, and as fast as I get my political education, the Governor shall have the benefit of it

Another old fellow from a "back lot" sends "Them Steers" some perplexing questions He says —

"I read in the Argus that the Greenback party has become a Republican side show" Now, I wish to know why it is perfectly right and respectable for one wing of the Greenback party to repose sweetly in the bosom of the Democratic party, and neither respectable nor right for the other wing to repose in the bosom of the Republican party, should they choose to do so? Is the Democratic party more honorable than the Republican? If so, why? Is it because of their noble war record? When I was a boy the Argus was called the "champion liar," has it lost the belt? It is claimed by some that J M Goddis a Greenbacker Wherein does it consist? Can one adopt the Democratic platform, vote with the party, support party measures, and still be a Greenbacker?

In connection with the above the Lewiston Journal remarks This sort of thing we fear, is calculated to perplex the ancient lyre of Portland

"A SMALL KIND OF HUMBUG" It is of interest and but just to say that there are many members of Congress who denounce the wholesale assessment business into which the Congressional Republican Committee has gone, under the leadership of Mr Hubbell, in strong terms as not only unwise but wrong —Special to Boston Advertiser

That is all right Assessment upon office holders with the implied "your money or your life" cannot be too strongly condemned The receiving of voluntary contributions from officeholders is no more a crime than is the receiving money for like purpose from any one else And the law under which Gen Curtis was indicted and convicted of receiving money from officeholders for political purposes, is a small kind of humbug —Both Times

The inclination of the American people for practical knowledge is well exemplified by the remarkable sale in this country of cyclopedias and other digests of information The publication of the first edition of Appleton's "American Cyclopedia" was begun in 1857, and of the revised edition in 1873 The entire aggregate number of volumes printed has been one million four hundred and fifty nine thousand five hundred and fifty (1,459,550), making an average, there being sixteen volumes to a set, one ninety-one thousand two hundred and twenty two sets This is certainly a very remarkable sale of a work of the magnitude and cost of the "American Cyclopedia" If we add to this the sale of the Index and Annual volumes, the number is increased to 1 722,750 A careful estimate of the sales, in different styles of binding, shows that the public have expended for this Cyclopedia, including the Annual volumes, over ten million dollars

"The Good Old Way"

We do not seek in the cannon's mouth but rather in the eyes of the people of Bangor, Brewer, and the rest of the back towns where the Whig and Commercial are used to cover pantry shelves It would please certain dealers if we would adopt the biblical style of advertising and cry our wares from the housetops But sonorous as the name of the boat is, we sell, we are afraid that without Dame Rumor Spearing a Trumpet, some would fail to catch onto its merits They would also like instead of our weekly proclamations about

and BROHAN S "Creme de la Creme" DRESSING for Ladies boots and gloves, to have us stick the legend on a shingle at our door But we have awakened to the fact that perhaps every one does not go by our store so we will let the ancients advertise in the good old way and we will keep on in the way we have started

THE IRISH AGITATOR.

Arrival of Davitt.

NEW YORK, June 17. The steamer ..., of the White Star line, having on board the Irish agitator, Michael Davitt, and his private Secretary, Wm. Redmond, arrived in quarantine at 12.30 last night without a word of warning. She had not been reported and the first knowledge of her arrival was the rattling of her anchor chains in the offing opposite the ... office.

He was taken to the Everett House, where he invited a party of newspaper men to his apartments and informed them he was at their service and willing and ready to answer questions. He was asked as to his plans. These were, he stated, twelve days' lecturing tour through the States under the auspices of the committee of the Land Leagues between this city and Chicago.

The object of his visit was two-fold: first to contradict the rumors that were going of a split in the Land League movement or the likelihood of there being a difference between Parnell and himself; second, to explain the work done in Ireland by Ladies' League in the sustaining of evicted people, building houses, and the maintenance in the law courts of tenants' rights. "In my speech in the Academy of Music," said he, "I shall deal with the present situation in Ireland, and give the ... of new departures, new schemes, and explain away these rumors of a rupture between Parnell and myself. As far as they are concerned, you may say we are in perfect accord, and I consider the ... in Ireland never in so hopeful a ... "

The only ... who would profit by it would be those opposed to the League, as they knew ... would fall on the leaders. Gladstone's position he considered critical, particularly in the Egyptian question.

Of Minister Lowell the agitator said he knew very little, but his own opinion is that the blame lies not so much on Mr. Lowell as it does on the Government at Washington. He says he will not enter ... again, as he can do more effective work outside. Landlordism as a ..., he claims, is broken and demoralized, and the question of self-government ... follow in the wake of the Land League ...

Davitt will return at the expiration of ... weeks to hold a conference with Parnell and other leaguers after the passage of the Coercion bill. His Secretary, Redmond, will remain here to complete his political education. After lunch the committee again took charge of Davitt and presented him with an address of welcome by Prof. John P. Brophey. In response Davitt said he wished he could express his appreciation of the welcome extended on the part of the citizens of New York, as eloquently as they have worded the kindly greeting just given.

FORTY-SEVENTH CONGRESS--First Session

House.

WASHINGTON, June 17. The Speaker laid a communication from the Secretary of the Treasury, before the House, transmitting a report of the director of the mint upon the annual production of precious metals in the United States; laid on the table. The House went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Burrows of Michigan in the chair, and resumed consideration of the River and Harbor bill.

Mr. Spark's offered an amendment which was adopted, providing that the $300,000 shall be used solely for the improvement of the navigation of the Mississippi river and its tributaries, and no part with a view to the improvement of private property.

On motion of Mr. Hazel, of West Virginia, an amendment was adopted appropriating $25,000 for the improvement of the Monongahela river, West Virginia. The paragraph making the appropriation for the improvement of the Mississippi river having been reached, Mr. Brown, of Indiana, moved to strike out the clause providing that the money shall be expended by the Secretary of War in accordance with the plans of the Mississippi River Commission, and insert a proviso leaving it in the discretion of that officer to expend the money in such a way and on such plans as will best improve the navigation of the Mississippi.

After considerable debate the amendment was rejected. Mr. Page of Cal. offered an amendment, directing the Secretary of War to carry on the works contemplated in the bill by contract, when not detrimental to the interests of the Government; adopted.

The Committee then rose and reported the bill to the House, and the bill passed yeas 119, nays 47.

Mr. Robinson, of New York, from the Committee on Appropriation, reported the Naval Appropriation bill and it was ordered printed and recommitted. The House then at 6.40 P. M., adjourned.

THE WEATHER.

WAR DEP'T, OFFICE CHIEF SIGNAL OFFICER, Washington, D. C., June 19—(1 A. M.)

Indications.

For New England: Local rains and partly cloudy and slightly warmer weather; winds slightly to south and west; falling barometer.

Mr. Granville Edwards, of Gray, has invented a car stove. If completely capsized, fifteen streams of water play upon the fire. It would seem that it must supersede the car heaters now in use by railroads. Mr. E. is quite an inventor, having secured some fifteen or more patents already.

DREADFUL STORMS.

A Fearful Loss of Life

NEARLY 100 PERSONS REPORTED KILLED

AND 150 INJURED.

OVER 100 HOUSES BLOWN DOWN.

Iowa and Illinois Swept By Cyclones.

ST. LOUIS, June 17. The severest storm in a long time passed over this city between 12 and 1 o'clock this morning; the wind attained a velocity of 66 miles an hour and did very great aggregate damage, but so far as known no single injury of magnitude occurred.

Trees and fences was prostrated in all sections of the city; shutters, signs, chimneys, etc., were blown down and a general havoc among small things prevailed. Very heavy rain accompanied the wind and the streets and sewers and cellars in many parts of the city were flooded. Several steamers at the wharf lost chimneys and had some part of their upper works carried away; barges and small crafts were banged about.

Every telegraph line in the city was prostrated, and this afternoon communication is restored to only a very few points. A good deal of plate glass was broken in the business part of the city and a great many windows of residences were blown in.

Later.

The steamer Blue Lodge, of McDonald Brothers' lumber dealers, Lacrosse, Wis., valued at $10,000, sunk at Pittsburg dyke on the Illinois shore. The steamer Champion sunk at St. Louis, loss $10,000. Capt. Dan Silver's boats Bright Light and Annie P. Silver were damaged respectively, $1,000 and $1,500. The steamboat Chas. P. Chouteau lost a boom and was damaged $2,000. Total loss on the river by the storm, over $25,000.

The storm has been more severe in east St. Louis than on this side of the river. Nearly all the southern part of that town is flooded and some 50 houses, occupied by poor families, injured and several blown down entirely or twisted out of shape. Women and children left their homes and waded around in the muddy water seeking safe shelter from the storm, filling freight cars and occupying other places of refuge.

Considerable stock was damaged or destroyed by the rain. Total loss about $50,000. A brief despatch from Kansas City says a terrible tornado visited that city last night which unroofed and overturned houses, blew down trees and fences, and shook up things generally. Loss $200,000. A brief despatch from Leavenworth says the storm was terrible. Five ladies were killed in one house and a great amount of damage done.

In Iowa.

DES MOINES, June 18. A tornado swept through Iowa, late last night, from northwest to southeast, 20 miles north of Des Moines. The town of Grinnell was struck by it, and half the town is in ruins. The following despatch was received here this A. M.

GRINNELL, June 18, 12.50 A. M. Our city is half in ruins by a cyclone. From 5 to 10 are killed, and from 50 to 100 wounded. Send doctors from Newton and Des Moines by a special train, we have no wires working outside of town. Send immediately by order of the Mayor of the city. Both college buildings, and half of our best residences are flat on the ground. (Signed,) G. M. Christian.

Shortly After One

a special bearing Superintendent Royce, Superintendent Quick and twelve physicians left for Grinnell. No satisfactory news was obtained on account of a break in the wires till the receipt of the following:

GRINNELL, June 18—4.50 A. M. The special train from Des Moines reached this place at 3.40 A. M. with 12 physicians on board from Des Moines, Colfax and Kellog. The situation is worse even than first reports made it appear. Thirty-two people are dead and about one hundred or more wounded. Eight deaths are reported from Malcolm, which is entirely levelled and destroyed. Brooklyn also suffered some. Eight of the students are having been dug out of the ruins. The Chapin House is turned into a hospital, some of the most dangerous cases being taken there, among others Chas. Frye, a brakeman on the Rock Island road, whose train was wrecked north of Grinnell. Accounts of the first apperance of the cyclone do not agree, but it appears that a deep, roaring sound was first heard, proceeding from a funnel shaped cloud coming from the southwest, sweeping to the northwest corner of the town. It levelled huge trees in its pathway, taking houses and barns and levelling both to the ground. C. Pitman's house was completely levelled.

Burying Beneath

it Pitman, his wife and three children; his wife's sister and little baby a three years old girl, Hattie, were taken out dead; the boy Harry is fatally injured and another slightly injured. Not far away was the residence of Mr. Lewis and wife, an old gentleman and lady, who were both killed. From here the storm pursued a zig zag direction to the north of the city where, after wiping out the finest residence in that portion of the city, it swept toward the college. The West building was dumped into a heap of laths, plaster, and burning timber burying beneath it eight students all of whom were afterwards extracted, more or less injured, and one dead. East College, a five story building, was unroofed, and fire followed after completing its work of demolition at the college. The whirling fiend then struck straight across the Iowa Central Railroad; near by stood a two story house in which Miss Abbie Agard was killed. There is hardly a sign left of it.

Worse Still.

A special to the State Register stated that the surgeons now report four dead at Grinnell and say five or six more cannot live through the night. The surgeons have reported the wounded exceed 150 and the number of houses destroyed or ruined between 140 and 150. The total loss of property is now estimated at $600,000. It is feared the number of deaths at Grinnell will yet reach 75.

The path of the tornado is now well defined as having been about 25 miles long and half a mile wide, extending 5 miles northwest of Grinnell and 20 miles southeast. It is now thought the loss of life outside of Grinnell will reach 25, and altogether nearly 100.

FROM WASHINGTON.

General News.

The Guiteau Case.

WASHINGTON, June 17. The Star says that Justice Bradley, of the United States Supreme Court, to-day informed a Star reporter that application had been made to him by Charles H. Reed has persistently denied making an application to Judge Bradley for habeas corpus and previous to his departure for Baltimore this morning told a Star reporter that he had not yet acted.

SUDDEN DEATH. Mrs. Todd, wife of Freeman H. Todd, Esq., one of the largest and wealthiest lumbermen on the St. Croix river, died at her home in St. Stephen, N. B., at about half-past four o'clock Saturday afternoon. She had not been well for some time but was thought to be gaining when she died very suddenly. Mrs. Todd was about sixty-seven years old and leaves a very large circle of friends who will long mourn her loss and extend sincere sympathies to the bereaved family in this dark hour of affliction. A son of the deceased arrived in this city yesterday morning on the Pullman train, and Superintendent Cram took him through on a special.

REFORM CLUB MEETING. The temperance meeting of the Reform Club filled the large vestry of Columbia street church, and was of a wide awake character and cheering in its results. In the opening Mrs. Pickard read the Scripture lesson and Chaplain Henry offered prayer. President Page occupied the chair and introduced the following as speakers: Messrs. Richardson, Gerry, Lamson, Duren, Kenney and Ayer of the club; Rev. S. W. Hanks and Mr. Darling, of Boston; Rev. Mr. Greene, of Machias; Rev. Mr. Ilsley, Hon. J. S. Wheelwright and Dea. Ingalls, of this city; also Mrs. Prentiss, of the Crusade. Benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Ilsley. Signatures to the pledge were obtained.

TEMPERANCE CAMP MEETING. A temperance camp-meeting is to be held at Lake Maranocook, on Saturday, and Sunday, July 29 and 30. Saturday will be "Children's Day," and Sunday schools are cordially invited to be present and take part in the exercises. One of the best bands of music in the State will give band concerts during intermission and before and after the speaking. Special rates for children on Saturday for the round trip is placed at a nominal price. Portland and stations to Vassalboro, Bangor, Dexter, Belfast and Newport, 50c.; Farmington, E. Livermore and Skowhegan, 40c.; Fairfield, Waterville, Auburn and Lewiston, 25c.; other stations correspondingly low. The rates for adults are much lower than last year. Only $1.00 from Portland, Farmington and Skowhegan, $1.25 Bangor, Dexter, Belfast, and less rates from many nearer stations. Communications should be addressed to E. C. Farrington, Fryeburg.

RECEPTION OF ST. ALBAN COMMANDERY. St. John's Commandery, Knights Templar, have arranged the following programme for the visit of St. Alban Commandery, No. 8, of Portland; St. John's Commandery will assemble at the Armory at half past eleven o'clock A. M., Friday, June 23d, proceed to the Steamboat Wharf and receive St. Alban Commandery, which will arrive on the Boston boat from Rockland, and escort them to Masonic Hall, where a dinner will be served in the Banquet Hall. After dinner the Commandery will take St. Alban Commandery under its escort and parade (with intervals of rest,) the principal streets of the city. In the evening a Reception will be given in Masonic Hall. St. Alban Commandery will take its departure on the 7.45 A. M. train, June 24th. The committee on decorations, request that the Sir Knights and lady friends, who can do so, contribute flowers, and send them to Masonic Hall on the morning of June 23d. The Commandery will drill in the new tactics, this, and Wednesday evening.

FLORAL CONCERT. A very interesting floral concert was given last evening in the First Baptist church. The attendance was large, notwithstanding the unpropitious weather, and the floral decorations were profuse and very elegant. The exercises were of a very interesting nature and the address by the pastor, Rev. Mr. Hazlewood, was appropriate and eloquent. The following is the programme: organ voluntary; trio, Mrs. Crowell, Miss Sweet, Mr. Stewart; prayer, Mr. Barrows; singing by school; Scripture reading, Psalm 23; singing by little boys; poem by Miss Brown; singing by three little girls, "Seek and ye shall find;" exercises on miracles, by children; singing by primary class; scripture reading, responsive, P's 93; solo by Mrs. Crowell; singing by school; floral exercises by eight misses; duet by Misses Bridges and Getchell; poem, "Wayside Flowers," Miss Robinson; duet by Mrs. Crowell and Miss Sweet; remarks by Rev. Mr. Hazlewood; singing by school and congregation, "Nearer my God to thee;" benediction. The poem "Wayside Flowers," read by Miss Robinson, was written for the occasion by Mrs. Mace.

PERSONAL. We have had pleasure in making the acquaintance of Col. B. F. Baker, of Saratoga, N. Y., of the 43rd regiment of that State, and a member of the House of Assembly, who passed the Sabbath here as the guest of E. R. Burpee, Esq., with whom he will make an extended trip to the northern border of the State to examine woodlands and mill property on the upper St. John, in the interest of New York capitalists.

OUR SOLDIERS.

A Brilliant Discourse by Rev. Mr. Gerrish before B. H. Beale Post, No. 12, G. A. R., in the First Methodist Church.

Rev. Theodore Gerrish delivered by special request, in the First Methodist church last evening, a memorial sermon, before B. H. Beale Post, No. 12, G. A. R., The church was thronged with a large audience and the members of the B. H. Beale Post occupied seats in the body of the house.

The services opened with an organ voluntary "Funeral March." Rev. Mr. Gerrish read the 9th Psalm. A solo, "Recreation," was sung by Mrs. Wasgatt. Prayer was offered by Rev. S. Goodenough, of Belfast. During the evening the choir sang "Duke St," "America" and "Coronation," and the services closed with Webster's Funeral March by the organist. The discourse by Rev. Mr. Gerrish was a brilliant and eloquent effort and held the closest attention of those assembled, throughout its entire delivery. The special subject was "Our Soldiers; their Sacrifices, Bravery and Reward." The address was delivered without notes, and was a masterly presentation of a theme ever dear to our people. The eloquence, brilliant word-painting and graphic descriptions left a deep impression upon every one in attendance. We regret we are only able to present our readers the following very brief outline:

The text is found in the 6th chapter of Genesis, 4th verse. "There were giants in the earth in those days." Twenty-one years have passed since the commencement of the great civil strife. The perilous condition of affairs at that time was graphically pictured by the speaker. Not in the last two centuries has a country been called to pass through such a siege as our nation. They were indeed perilous times when Abraham Lincoln placed his hand on the Ship of State. The voice of treason was heard on the streets of the National Capitol and even on the floors of Congress. We remember the first call for troops. How like a bugle blast it rang through the the country. It was a very critical time when this experimental call for 75,000 troops was issued, and the question rose whether our men would respond. There were giants abroad in those days, and a hearty response came back from the rocky banks of the Penobscot, and all the intervening country to the plains of the far West.

The speaker announced his theme to be "Our Soldiers; their sacrifices, bravery, and reward." The sacrifices of these men who stepped from the ranks of civil life to participate in the hardships of war, were great. They had to sever all the domestic relations of life, and leave their wives, children and dear ones. They gave up all the comforts of home, exchanged their comfortable houses for miserable tents, and instead of the bountiful provisions of their own households, were to subsist on meagre rations. They exchanged their personal liberty for a kind of servitude and they gave up a life of comparative safety for a life of great danger, and went out in the way where death passed by, to battle for justice and liberty. They suffered without murmuring or complaint. No matter how severe the hardships, no matter how agonizing the pain, it was all to preserve the Republic. They were giant spirits, and they were ready to suffer any sacrifice to save the Republic. How small are many of our sufferings to-day, compared with those endured by the soldiers during that deadly strife. The speaker drew a very touching and eloquent picture of the terrible sufferings of our noble soldiery.

The soldiers were always loyal and were determined that the war should be put down and treason punished. It was not always so with you of the North. The speaker returned in 1864 to Maine and visited friends in this beautiful city. He recalled that there were men on the streets who declared the war a failure. News came that six hundred men in your own regiment had met with death. Your grief was great, many were disheartened and some thought it would be best to call back the broken battalions. But this thought was never entertained by the men at the front. Never even in defeat would they cherish for a moment the thought of giving up the contest. They were giants. No matter how much they suffered they never could be induced to renounce allegiance to the old flag. We are forgetting loyalty. Such Spartan loyalty should be cherished. They were great, gallant and brilliant soldiers. As far as bravery is concerned, this war is without a parallel in the history of the world. A graphic picture was drawn of life in Southern prisons.

As a specimen of bravery, take your 1st Maine Heavy Artillery. Their first baptism of fire took place at Spottsylvania where 500 of your brave comrades lay bleeding on the field. Then again, 18 years ago this very day when that charge was made against the enemy entrenched before Petersburg, and 600 more were left on the field. And out of the 1st Maine Heavy Artillery only 200 could be mustered of the original 1800. References were made to many other famous struggles. These were brilliant exploits of patriotic endeavor. There were many single events which would have saved our reputation as a brave nation for five hundred years.

And what was accomplished. We whipped the rebels and saved the nation. The obnoxious doctrine of State rights was blotted out in blood. Men were taught to honor and respect the old flag. The south was opened up to the enterprise of the American people. And again other nations were taught to respect the Western Republic. Seventeen years have passed since the last battle was fought, the breastworks reared have rotted and the forts are now dismantled, but the soldiers are not forgotten, and the memory of these loyal, noble, heroic, giant men who sacrificed their lives in behalf of their country will be cherished so long as the flag lives.

THE CREDIT INDUSTRIEL.

Mr. Blaine Again A Witness.

A PERSONAL STATEMENT BY THE FORMER SECRETARY OF STATE—ROBERT E RANDALL'S EXTRAORDINARY STORIES CONTRADICTED FLATLY—MR. BLAINE SUPPORTED BY LETTERS FROM THE PRESIDENT AND MR. TRESCOT—SOUTH AMERICAN RELATIONS

[From the N. Y Tribune.]

[Conclusion]

A VERY SPECIFIC STATEMENT.

The Chairman—Then I understand you as desiring to be specific in the statement that while you were Secretary of State you never encouraged, accepted, or in any way countenanced the proposition of the Count de Montferrand or Mr Randall in reference to the Credit Industriel?

Mr Blaine—Certainly, and my despatches show it all through.

The Chairman—Was the matter taken into consideration in any way in framing your instructions to General Hurlbut?

Mr Blaine—Not in the slightest degree

The Chairman—Was it taken into account in the framing of your instructions to Mr. Trescot?

Mr Blaine—Never, never in the least. Having seen Mr. Randall's testimony, I yesterday addressed a note to Mr. Trescot, which, with his reply to it, I will read to the committee.

Mr Blaine then read his letter to Mr Trescot, as follows:

"In the testimony of Mr Robert E. Randall before the House Committee on Foreign Affairs I find the following: Q—When was your last interview with Mr. Blaine? A—I should think somewhere about the 10th of December Q—Did you understand then that the Department was considering your plan favorably? A—I never understood anything otherwise at any time Q—Did you understand then that Mr. Trescot would carry out the plans of your company? A—Yes, sir.' Will you oblige me by stating whether you found in my instructions any reference to the Credit Industriel of France. You will oblige me further by stating whether in any conversation I ever intimated to you that you were expected to take any action whatever touching the Credit Industriel during your mission in South America. I venture still further to ask whether you understood my closing instructions to you of December 10 as requiring that you should insist on the settlement of the Landreau claim as a condition of peace between Peru and Chili. You will please observe that I limit my inquiries to those despatches which have been made public by official authority. I have no right to go beyond, and I trust you will find no official or personal impropriety in answering my questions within those limits."

MR. TRESCOT'S REPLY.

Mr Trescot's reply was as follows "I beg to acknowledge the receipt of your letter in which, after asking certain questions to which I shall more fully refer, you say in conclusion 'You will please observe that I limit my inquiries to those despatches which have been made public by official authority I have no right to go beyond, and I trust you will find no official or personal impropriety in answering questions within those limits.' While I have not, in my opinion, to answer any questions in reference to my recent mission except to those whom I officially represent I certainly recognize the obligation to state fully to you, from whom, as Secretary of State, I received my first instructions, any facts or impressions connected with those instructions or the verbal communications which accompanied them. You ask first, whether I found any reference in my instructions to the Credit Industriel of France? In your instructions to me of December 1, 1881, I found the following paragraph

'If negotiation be assured, the ability of Peru to furnish the indemnity will be a matter of direct interest. Upon this subject we have no information upon which definite instructions can now be based. While you will carefully abstain from any interposition in this connection, you will examine and report to this Department promptly any plans which may be suggested.'

'You never gave to me verbally any other instruction than is contained in the foregoing paragraph Under this construction, taken in connection with the instructions to General Hurlbut of November 10, I would have felt at liberty to urge upon the Government of Chili the acceptance of any reasonable arrangement of any financial agency, including the Credit Industriel which proposed to furnish the indemnity, provided such plan involved no responsibility or guarantee or protectorate on the part of the United States If it involved such results I had no discretion, and would have been confined to a prompt reference of any plan proposed to the Department for consideration and decision The negotiation never reached the point where any plan for the payment of a war indemnity by Peru could be suggested or discussed. Indeed, the proposal in advance of any plan which seemed to secure the payment of such indemnity would have been a serious obstacle to the negotiation as Chili did not want the indemnity, but did want the territory.

'As to the Landreau claim, your instruction never authorized me to do more than use the good offices of the United States to obtain before a proper tribunal a fair hearing for such rights as Landreau might be found to possess.' I was specially instructed in your despatch of December 10 to direct the mind of the Chilian Government of the impression that any other intervention was intended by the Government of the United States As a matter of fact the Landreau claim was never in any way presented by me to the Government of either Peru or Chili, nor, as I understand, was it ever named by General Hurlbut Your instructions gave ample discretion, and the time never came when, in my opinion, its precise limitation would have been judicious or useful."

Mr Blaine—I think that Mr. Trescot is the most competent authority on this question in the United States to-day

The Chairman said that he had no more questions to ask, and he inquired of members of the committee whether they desired to ask any

When it came to Mr Belmont's turn his reply was "certainly not"

Mr Blount—Do you know of any connection between Mr. Morton and the Credit Industriel?

Mr Blaine—No, sir. I never knew anything about it until it came out in the public prints Mr Morton's conduct as Minister to France while I was Secretary of State was very honorable, very zealous and very earnest in the support of the interests of the Government.

Mr. Blount—Does the published correspondence furnish all that you know of Mr. Morton in connection with South American affairs?

Mr Blaine—Yes, sir As to the correspondence of the firm of Morton, Bliss and Co with the Credit Industriel or with any contract, I never heard anything until I was out of office. I literally know nothing about it

MR. SUAREZ A VERY PERSISTENT MAN.

The Chairman—Did you have any interview or correspondence with Mr. Suarez in reference to the Credit Industriel?

Mr Blaine—Mr Suarez had many conversations with me because he is a very persistent man. He addressed a great many communications to the Department, and (like Count de Montferrand) he was very anxious to get an answer from the Department. I declined to give Mr. Suarez any. I never wrote to a human being in reference to the Credit Industriel, except to the Minister of the United States. Neither Mr. Suarez nor Count de Montferrand ever got from me the scraping of a pen. They were very anxious to get something to show that they had been in negotiation with the Department under my Secretaryship, and they have not got it.

Mr. Blount—The idea was that it might be useful to forwarding their plans?

Mr. Blaine—They were perfectly honorable and frank. They were frank in wishing to have the power of the United States behind them to pull the chestnuts out of the fire for the benefit of England, France, Holland and Belgium; and so far as I had any power in administering the Government, I did not propose to use it in that way.

Mr Blount—They wanted something from the Department to show their consequence to that extent in South America?

Mr. Blaine—Yes; and I declined to give it. Mr. Randall's testimony goes to show that I had been in very intimate communication with them, and that I suddenly turned a corner. Never from the beginning to the end of my administration of the State Department, did I deviate from the position which I took, and which was one of having absolutely nothing whatever to do with the Credit Industriel.

Mr. Rice—While you were Secretary of State did you ever give the idea to Mr. Randall, or any one else, of this Government's assuming a protectorate over Peru or over any of the South American States?

Mr. Blaine—Oh, never. I always resisted the idea. I always regarded it as a perfectly wild idea—perfectly wild I never entertained the notion.

Mr. Rice—Did you ever make the retention of Tarapaca by Peru absolutely essential to any favorable consideration of peace so far as the United States saw fit to consider it at all?

Mr. Blaine—My despatches show that I thought the contrary. I said that the loss of territory might have to be submitted to. I think that it is a matter which will become more and more demonstrated that if Mr Trescot's instructions had been carried out peace would have been made long ago between Peru and Chili—and probably with a cession of Tarapaca.

THE QUESTION OF INTERVENTION.

Mr. Rice—Was any intervention by the United States, that was contemplated between the parties, anything more than the exercise of those kind offices which one nation is in the habit of exercising toward another?

Mr. Blaine—Oh, no, and nothing but what the United States will have to do hereafter. Either the United States Government will now have to intervene between those countries, or else it will have to permit European Governments to do so. They will never come to a peace unless with the pressure of outside power. In my judgment they would have been at peace long ago had the pressure of the power of this Government not been withdrawn. I think it is going to be demonstrated in the very near future that the United States Government will have to resume in South America that policy which, in my opinion, would have effected a peace, or else it will have to back out of its position and say that that is a domain which does not belong to us and surrender it to Europe The United States is big enough to do everything except play "dog in the manger." They cannot stand that. That is where we are to-day—just on that narrow edge where we have to settle this question or withdraw and allow England to come in and settle it. I said something when I was here before, about which I have received letters from abroad, both from English friends and from American friends residents in England. It was about the interference of England.

Probably the language that I used may have justified the interpretation that I spoke of England's interfering as a government. I did not mean that. I do not mean that the English Cabinet interfered. But I mean to say that English influences were exercised. I do mean to say (and I refer to this printed volume to prove) that the English Minister to Peru, Sir Spencer St. John, did that which ought to have cost him his place as a man of honor—did it against the United States That is a very serious charge, and yet I make it deliberately. I will tell you what he did When Mr Hurlbut made his agreement for certain rights in the Bay of Chimbote (a very trivial matter), the only objection to the negotiation was the ill time of it.

A FORGED TREATY MADE USE OF.

Sir Spencer St John showed around in Lima to all the Legations a forged copy of a treaty. I call it forged because I call it its right name. It was a simulated treaty, and he and with his treaty which Peru has made with the American Minister, Mr. Hurlbut", and it was telegraphed to Chili as the one and aided very greatly in producing an exasperated condition of feeling on the part of the Chilian Government. Finally, when Mr. Hurlbut encountered him and made inquiry into it Sir Spencer St. John said it was only a little joke that he was playing. Mr Hurlbut properly characterized that answer as a very frivolous and indecent mode of getting out of a very disreputable transaction. I do not know whether our Government has advised the British Government of the conduct of Sir Spencer St John, but I know that any American Minister, who would have done that thing toward England in any country on the globe would have been instantly recalled in disgrace by any American administration that has ever held power, and if Great Britain permits that to be done by Sir Spencer St. John, without reprimand, she will permit that to be done in her diplomatic service which the honor of the United States would scorn to permit in her own That is my explanation of what I said as to England's interference

The Chairman said that the hour of adjournment had arrived, and asked Mr Blaine if he desired to make any further statement

Mr Blaine—I made a partial slip of the tongue when I was last before the committee, and I want to correct it now. I spoke in connection with some testimony here of "the dirty Democratic press" I meant to say "the dirty portion of the Democratic press," because a large portion of the Democratic press, so far as this question is concerned, has been in the first rank of patriotic expression If I had said, "the dirty portion of the Democratic press and the dirty portion of the Republican press," I would have exactly expressed my meaning, and I now desire to put that on the record

The Chairman—I think the committee will discriminate on that point [Laughter]

Mr Blaine—I wish to repeat what I said the last day that I was here. That was that, as I offered myself in perfect good faith for any and every question that could possibly be propounded to me in connection with the investigation to all its length and breadth its heights and depth, its collaterals and contingencies, I am still subject to the wishes of the committee. I have nothing to withhold, I count the most careful and searching investigation into these matters, not only through questions that the committee may desire to put to me, but through questions that any and every citizen of the United States may desire to ask through members of the committee. If there is any chapter in my life (associated with a great man who has gone) of which I am proud, and of the complete and absolute vindication of which in history I feel sure, it is that in connection with the policy laid down by the administration of President Garfield with respect to the South American States.

Mr. Wilson—As to the ability of this Government how to procure a proper adjustment and settlement of the difficulties between Chili and Peru, do you think that it is now too late for the United States to try to do so?

Mr Blaine—No, sir, it is not.

Mr. Wilson—How could that be brought about?

Mr. Blaine—I am sure that you could hardly consider that to be testimony. I have declined to speak in regard to the policy of Mr. Evarts. It is not for me to suggest a policy for Mr. Frelinghuysen. I believe that the policy of intervention and good offices which was tried by the Government of the United States and which it was the especial mission of Mr. Trescot to carry out, would have been by and by successful. If the committee desires to go to the very bottom of this matter and to get all that there is of it, and all that can be had of it, the witness is in town. It is the Hon. William Henry Trescot, a gentleman whom I consider more highly skilled in diplomacy than other citizen in the United States, a man of entire integrity, of great frankness of character, and who is, I presume, at the service of the committee.

The Chairman—It is the purpose of the committee to examine Mr. Trescot.

SAD ACCIDENT.

Mr. OSCAR CRAIG Blown up by a Premature Blast in the Rosendale Cement Quarry--Destruction of an Eye--Its Subsequent Removal by Surgical Operation

Mr Oscar Craig was foreman in a cement quarry at Rosendale, Ulster Co N Y By an explosion one day in the quarry he lost an eye—lost it totally On her impression that the matter was less serious, the local physician told Mr Craig that his eye was not hurt woefully, but could be save I by treatment. The experiment was tried and failed Worse remained behind, for he was in danger of losing the other also through sympathetic inflammation In this strait he consulted Dr DAVID KENNEDY, of Rondout, N Y., who at once took the injured eye out to be taken out to save the other. To this Mr Craig demurred, and went back home in doubt. His local physician said "Go to New York" To New York the patient went, and one of the most eminent oculists in the country, having looked at the case, said "You have lost one eyeball, go back and do what you can to save the other." Finally, Dr Kennedy removed the ruined eye and treated Mr Craig with "KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY" to build up the system, and the result was successful

Dr Kennedy's great success is due to the use of "Favorite Remedy" in the utter treatment
